

Dear Parents/Guardians:

During the season our Mountaineer Little League Leadership Board members and coaches regularly observe players to evaluate their potential contribution to the Mountaineer Little League All-Star Team.

We will soon begin the final selection process by Allstar Managers and Board vote. All league players who meet Little League eligibility requirements will be considered based on performance.

It is important to note, while it is an honor to be selected to represent Mountaineer Little League as an All-Star Selection, it is also a significant commitment.

All-Star Participant obligations will include:

- Practice commitments throughout May and June.
- Uniform Fees above league allowances ($25)*
- Sportsmanship and Participation in All-Star official events
- Parent Participation in All-Star Events, travel arrangements for all team meetings, practices, events, and games
- Practices and game availability for an All-Star can often be 5-7 days a week
- Tournaments can last 1-4 weeks, depending on team success

Players and Parents who are unable to make these commitments should below indicate they are not interested in being considered for All-Star selection. Failure to meet the above obligations will lead to players being dropped from the All-Star roster, which could negatively affect the overall team eligibility to participate and represent the Mountaineer Little League in All-Star Competition.

All-Star Little League Competition is highly competitive in nature. Players selected will be aligned with positions and batting orders as evaluated by each All-star team's manager to best represent the Mountaineer Little League. As such, some players selected may only play the minimum required play time and/or have the minimum number of at bats, based on Official Little League All-Star Rules.
