

2024 Winter Sports Team Name Theme: Table Top Games

This season, the theme is table top games. That means primarily board games and card games. I grew up in the 1970s, and we played sooooo many board games. I played them with my nuclear family, I played them with cousins, I played them at friends' houses, we played them all night at sleepovers, we played them in the camper. My parents had huge bridge parties, and when I was a teen, I lost my hard-earned money to cousins playing poker at the beach. Games are glorious social theater.

I hope kids are still playing games that have a physical parts and pieces that can get lost, and then you have to use buttons or coins or other substitutes. I hope parents are still applying tape to the corners of the cardboard boxes that get stepped on when the kids do not remember to put the box out of the way. I hope you find that missing bishop from your magnetic chess set (spoiler alert, it's under the couch cushions next to the Clue candlestick and $65 in Monopoly money.) And for heaven's sake, I hope you get all the little plastic pieces lined up in the cardboard cutouts, and the rubber band is just tight enough to make the Mouse Trap final sequence activate correctly from boot to diving guy to descending cage!

I hope you try out some of the more complicated board games of this generation. They really are outstanding. If you grew up on Clue, Mystierium will blow your mind. If you know rummy, try Palace

So, without further adieu, here is a guide to the 2024 Winter Sports team names...
