Dear Community Partner,

Smithfield Little League has always been about more than baseball. It is about building character, confidence, and community for the families who call Smithfield home.

As we enter our 75th anniversary season, we are proud to celebrate a legacy that spans generations of players, families, volunteers, and local businesses. For seventy-five years, Smithfield Little League has played a meaningful role in our town, and today that tradition continues to grow stronger than ever.

Player participation is up 20%, and more families than ever are choosing Smithfield Little League as the place for their children to learn, compete, and belong. With that growth comes an important responsibility to invest in our fields, facilities, and overall player experience.

One of our largest projects this season is the revitalization of Willow Field, which will be officially renamed The Doris M. Connell Little League Field in honor of the first female manager in Smithfield Little League history. The field will be dedicated in March during National Women's History Month, celebrating leadership, inclusion, and the progress that continues to shape our league.

Planned improvements at Willow Field include:

- New clay added to the infield
- Installation of a warning track
- Fence repairs and safety toppers
- Renovation of both dugouts

In addition, we are investing in Deerfield Park with the addition of new batting cages and pitcher's mounds, creating dedicated spaces for player development across all age groups.

These improvements are not cosmetic. They directly impact safety, skill development, and the overall experience for more than 400 local players, while creating long-term community assets that will serve Smithfield for years to come.

Our ability to make these investments is made possible through the support of local businesses.

A Smithfield Little League sponsorship is more than a logo on a sign or jersey. It is a visible commitment to local families, youth development, and community pride. The following pages outline our 2026 sponsorship levels, recognition opportunities, and simple ways to register and pay.

We would be honored to partner with your business during this milestone season and welcome you into the Smithfield Little League family.

Thank you for supporting our players, our fields, and our future.

Sincerely,

Jason Morris
Director of Sponsorship & Fundraising
