Why I coach: It is my mission to improve the soccer experiences of youth players, where they are at the center of the decisions that are made. I strive to create soccer environments in which players enjoy every training session and game, and every player has the opportunity to develop into a skillful, autonomous decisionmaker and can reach their full potential. Our current youth players are our future coaches, referees, and board members and we need to ensure that they fall in love with the game for a lifetime!
