

HEAT ACCLIMATIZATION

Definition

A series of adaptations that helps the body prepare for exercise in the heat. These changes help the body maintain lower temperatures and heart rate and enhance sweating efficiency. These adaptations allow athletes to perform better and safer in the heat.