

RULEBOOK

(MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS)

Player Eligibility

Boys and girls between the ages of 6-14 are eligible to play in a Jr. NBA League.

The playing year is September 1st - August 31st and players should turn 6 on or before September 1st and are not allowed to turn 15 prior to August 31st of the playing year.*

Player Registration

Registration should open at least 10 weeks in advance of the first league game via digital platform. Registration must include waivers, acknowledgment of data sharing, and at least one (1) option for payment plan. Registration must also indicate the next steps for how to opt-in to the payment plan.

Players must be registered individually. There is no team registration, however, parents can make “buddy and/or coach requests” for their child and up to two (2) friends. Operators shall make best effort to accommodate “buddy and/or coach requests,” but communicate to parents that “buddy requests” are not guaranteed to result in participants being assigned to the same team.

Registration must inquire if the parents are interested in volunteering to coach or referee. The League Operator must seek volunteers to help coach as needed.

Player Verification

If a parent, player, or coach is found to have manipulated or attempted to manipulate identification or other verification documents, the NBA reserves the right to dismiss that player from the League.

Roster

Teams will be required to have rosters with a minimum of eight (8) players and a maximum of 10 players, unless a full roster of 8 can't be fielded in which case some teams may have 11 players.

Jr. NBA Leagues have a “no cut” policy. Every player that registers will have a roster spot.

Season Format

Jr. NBA Leagues are strongly encouraged to operate between October and March of the given playing year. There must be at least one (1) practice prior to a team's first game and there must be at least six (6) games within league play. There can never be more than two (2) games per week during regular season league play. Jr. NBA League playoffs, if offered, may not include more than two (2) games per day.

At the conclusion of a season, all players, coaches, parents, staff members and volunteers should receive a thank you email (Jr. NBA will provide a template).

Any player participating in a Jr. NBA League should be mindful of participation limits across other basketball activities to help prevent overuse injuries and burnout.

Age	Game Length	# of Games Per Week	Practice Length	# of Practices Per Week
Ages 7-8	20-28 min	1	30-60 min	1
Ages 9-11	24-32 min	1 to 2	45-75 min	2
Ages 12-14	28-32 min	2	60-90 min	2 to 4

Practices

There must be at least one (1) practice before game play. No practice can start at 9pm or later. Every practice must allow the team to have at least forty-five (45) minutes on court with access to at least a half court and one (1) basket.

The operator is responsible for providing at least two (2) basketballs per team per practice/game, and jerseys for game play (both jersey and ball allocation will be included in the licensing fee operators pay). Teams may supply additional basketballs, pennies, or any other equipment as needed.

Games

Games must occur weekly. Leagues cannot have fewer than six (6) games or more than fifteen (15) games and cannot run for more than fifteen (15) weeks in total.

Staffing

There must be a league director at every game, and league or facility staff at every practice.

For game play there must also be two (2) officials per court per game, a scoreboard operator/scorekeeper managing the book on each court, and a shot clock operator (for the appropriate ages, if applicable). There should be healthcare personnel (e.g., nurse, athletic trainer) at games. The minimum age for any staff should follow applicable local laws. All staff should be clearly identified. Officials must wear black and white stripes, black pants or shorts, and black shoes.

Operators and staff are responsible for supporting event setup and breakdown.

Game Results

Operators must post physical and/or digital schedules and results. Every game will have a winning team and a losing team. Follow the standings for playoff seedings (if applicable), and for ties, refer to head-to-head.

Seeding and Ties (if applicable):

The following information will be used to seed teams at the conclusion of league play:

- Record is the first determinant, e.g., a team with an 8-0 record receives a better seed than a team with a 7-1 record.
- If teams have the same record, the tie-breaker process below will be followed:
- If two teams have the same record, the head-to-head winner receives the better seed
- If three or more teams have the same record, proceed with a coin toss between the team that had the earliest pick and the draft, and the team with the next pick in the draft. The winner of this coin toss will then have a coin toss with the 3rd team and subsequent teams.

JR. NBA LEAGUES PLAYER ELIGIBILITY AND SEASON FORMAT (RECOMMENDED)

Player Segmentation

The NBA and USA Basketball have adopted a Youth Basketball Player Segmentation Model designed to help ensure player safety, consistency and competitive fairness, and balance for youth basketball players. The player segmentation model utilizes the age of players—rather than their grade—to ensure a developmentally appropriate playing experience.

For purposes of eligibility, a “Playing Year” is defined as September 1st - August 31st.

- Beginning at age seven (7), players are segmented by single-year age through age thirteen (13). Date of birth relative to the Playing Year is the final determinant of eligibility.
- For age segments, each age designation reflects the maximum age of a player during the Playing Year. For example, using the 2022-23 Playing Year, the 12U segment is for players who are twelve (12) years of age and under as of August 31, 2023. Should a player turn thirteen (13) on August 31 or earlier, the player would be ineligible for the 12U segment and would be considered a 13U player.

Players are allowed to “play up” an age group if the League Operator allows.

The NBA and USA Basketball developed age- and stage- appropriate playing guidelines – to include playing rules, equipment recommendations, and competition structure elements – for different age segments.

- 6 year-olds - play as a standalone age group following the rules for kids ages 7-8
- 7-8 years old
- 9-11 years old
- 12-14 years old

The Jr. NBA Leagues are available to players ages 6-14. Within these age segmentations, co-ed or participating in different gender leagues is acceptable up until the age of 12. At the 12-14 age group, players may only participate in their respective gender-appropriate league.

Additionally, league operators have the discretion to host multiple divisions within an age segment based on demand. Therefore, there could be any combination of age divisions within each segment. For example, in the 9-11 age segment there could be a 9-year-old division, and a 10-year-old division, and an 11-year-old division, if desired. Or there could be a combined 9- and 10-year-old division and a separate 11-year-old division, or just a 9–11-year-old division, etc.

The 7–8-year-old segment will be known as the Rookie Division. If there are separate divisions within this age segment, they will be known as Rookie 7's or Rookie 8's etc.

The 9–11-year-old division will be known as the Starter Division. If there are separate divisions within this age segment, they will be known as the Starter 9's or Starter 10's etc.

The 12–14-year-old division will be known as the All-Star Division. If there are separate divisions within this age segment, they will be known as the All-Star 12's or All-Star 13's etc.

The rules and standards of play will differ based on each age segment. See below for specific rules and standards per age segment.

Tryouts

League Operators should prioritize ensuring healthy and balanced competition (i.e., preventing “stacked” teams). Team selection is at the discretion of the League Operator; however, tryouts have proven to be a successful approach to ensuring balanced rosters. Tryouts are permitted subject to the following:

- There must be at least one (1) tryout per age group and one (1) make-up tryout per age group.
- Tryouts and make-up tryouts will be communicated while registration is still open.
- Tryouts must be evaluated by league coaches, while other league coaches attend the tryout to evaluate the players. The evaluators and coaches will change roles during the tryout to ensure a fair evaluation opportunity.
- League coaches will provide a score to every player across multiple skills and those scores will be averaged and combined with others to determine the player draft status.

Registration must also inquire if either parent is interested and/or willing to volunteer to coach if needed. The League Operator must seek volunteers to help coach as needed.

Jr. NBA Leagues have a no cut policy. Every player that tries out will have a roster spot.

Team Selection

League Operators should prioritize ensuring healthy and balanced competition (i.e., preventing “stacked” teams). Team selection is at the discretion of the League Operator. A “Draft” has proven to be a successful approach to ensuring balanced rosters. Drafts are permitted subject to the following:

- All head coaches or assistant coaches must attend the Jr. NBA Leagues Draft.
- No players or parents shall attend or know their player’s score outside of those at the draft.
- Parent coaches must select their child as one of their picks in the round that their child was evaluated.

The draft is organized as a “Snake.” This means if there are eight (8) teams, teams draw to determine the draft order. Team 1 picks first and each team gets a pick through Team 8. After Team 8’s pick, the draft will snake, meaning Team 8 will pick again, and then Team 7 down through Team 1. Then, Team 1 will pick again as the Draft snakes back up and continues.

Once the draft is complete, there will be no changes to rosters.

Operators will organize teams so that there are 8-10 players per roster. There can be no fewer than eight (8) players on any team. If every team has a balanced ten (10) player roster and less than 8 additional players remain unassigned, eleven (11) players are permissible on a team roster.

Team Names

Team names will be determined on Draft night and may consist of 1-2 teams plus the NBA/WNBA team name in market. For example, in San Antonio a team name may include the coaches name “Spurs – Thompson” or more original names such as “Spurs Competitors.”

GAMEPLAY RULES AND STANDARDS (RECOMMENDED)

Overview

The NBA and USA Basketball have worked closely with an expert working group on Playing Standards to develop age- and stage-appropriate rules and standards for youth basketball. Aligning with the Player Segmentation Model, these guidelines help young players appropriately learn the fundamentals of the game, achieve and maintain early success, and provide enhanced long-term development.

The rules and standards address four key areas:

1. Equipment & Court Specifications (e.g., proper height of the basket, size of the ball, and court dimensions and lines).
2. Game Structure (e.g., length of the game, scoring and timeouts).
3. Game Tactics (e.g., equal playing time, player-to-player vs. zone defense, pressing vs. no pressing).
4. Game Play Rules (e.g., use of a shot clock, substitutions, clock stoppage).

Rules and Standards Charts

See below for detailed rules and standards information. Please keep in mind:

- The playing rules and standards below are to serve as guidelines and recommendations for those administering basketball competitions.
- The NBA and USA Basketball have created progressive sets of rules and standards for younger age segments (ages 14 and under).
- The NBA and USA Basketball utilize these playing rules and standards in all events and competitions they may host.

*We understand that organizations and facilities may not always be able to accommodate all recommendations and that modifications will need to be made in certain instances due to practical limitations (e.g., inability to raise or lower the height of a basket, re-draw court lines, or not having a shot clock).

RECOMMENDED STANDARDS BY DIVISION

The below playing standards and rules are to serve as guidelines and recommendations for those administering Jr. NBA Leagues. We understand that organizations and facilities may not always be able to accommodate some of the recommendations. RECOMMENDED GAME FORMAT BY DIVISION

To ensure a positive experience and appropriate development, the Jr. NBA Leagues follow different game formats and rules by age segment. The below playing standards and rules are to serve as guidelines and recommendations for those administering Jr. NBA Leagues. We understand that organizations and facilities may not always be able to accommodate some of the recommendations. In that case, we suggest that modifications are allowed where limitations exist (e.g., inability to raise or lower the height of a basket, re-drawing court lines, or not having a shot clock). More details will be shared separately.

ROOKIE DIVISION (AGES 7-8)*

 Recommendation for six (6) year-olds is that they play as a standalone age group following the rules for kids ages 7-8.*

Every competition includes a fun skill competition, internal 3v3 play and 5v5 play. The Jr. NBA provides a fun skill game to start every competition, as well as how to execute internal 3v3, and then play 5v5. The team winning the skill competition will be awarded the ball to start the 5v5 competition. 3v3 competition will be executed as internal/inner-team competition. When the teams begin 5v5 play, the score will start as 0-0 and the team that won the skill competition will start with the ball, inbound from half court. If the teams tie in the skill competition, there will be a coin toss to see who starts with the ball.

STARTER DIVISION (AGES 9-11)

Every competition includes external 3v3 and 5v5 play. The Jr. NBA provides the format for executing external 3v3 and 5v5 competitions. External 3v3 competitions means the competition will be versus the opposing team. The winner will receive a 2-0 start to the 5v5 competition and will inbound the ball at half court. If the 3v3 results in a tie, the team that started with the ball in 3v3 will start on defense for 5v5.

ALL-STAR DIVISION (AGES 12-14)

Every competition is 5v5 play. Games will start with a jump ball.

COACHING INFORMATION

Coach Limits

Teams may have multiple volunteer coaches to facilitate practices, but bench personnel is capped at two (2) coaches per team.

Coach Attire

Coaches and/or bench personnel must wear a polo, t-shirt, sweater, dress pants or dress shorts, and closed toe shoes for all games. No headwear of any kind is allowed. No sandals, athletic shorts, tank tops, sleeveless shirts, or sweats are permissible. Failure to meet this requirement will result in an inability to coach the team. Coaches will be reminded of the attire guidelines as necessary at the start of each game.

Coach Training

There are two (2) required pre-season meetings for all coaches. One to be held by the operator to review rules and expectations. The other training will be a virtual Jr. NBA coaching clinic aimed at supporting each age segment appropriately.

RESPECT FOR THE GAME PROGRAM (RECOMMENDED)

Respect For The Game Program

We feel the youth basketball community should be acknowledged and rewarded for their hard work and positive contributions in improving the game. That's why Jr. NBA Leagues have developed a program that helps track positive participation. The program supports players, coaches, and parents, and is referred to differently for each constituency. These elements create a Respect for the Game program and create a positive culture for youth basketball.

See below for the Positive Parent Challenge, Referee Respect Program, Coach Credit System, and Baller Bonus System. These are all recommended by the Jr. NBA if possible.

Referee Respect Program

At the conclusion of every game, both team coaches will hand a card to each official indicating what trait that official best demonstrated during the game. These cards must be at the scorers table for the coaches to utilize post-game. After receiving the card, the officials will return the card to the scorer's table. PDF printouts of these cards can be found on Jr. NBA League website.

Positive Parent Challenge

Every Jr. NBA Leagues game includes the positive parent challenge. That means parents and spectators are only allowed to say and cheer positive comments during game play. There will be signage and reminders to ensure that all parents and spectators are aware of the program. This program leans on other parents and spectators from the same team to remind parents of the positive parent challenge, if they are behaving or speaking inappropriately.

Coaches Credit System

The Jr. NBA will provide a printable pdf sign to put on a box at the front of the facility that parents and players can drop notes into for their coaches. Notes can be anonymous or include the player/parent name, and should simply acknowledge something the player/parent is grateful for about the coach. The notes can be short and simple. The operator will collect the notes and give them to the coaches on their practice nights.

Baller Bonus

In an effort to develop young players holistically on and off the court, players that perform specific tasks will earn credits towards receiving a unique reward (end of season certificate). Players receive credits for B and above grades in a respective class, volunteering, completing life skills, writing military thank you's, etc. At the end of the season, depending on the number of credits the player received, they will be recognized with a certificate.

COMPLIANCE

If any team/coach/operator/staff are considered to be in violation of the details above, RCX and/or the Jr. NBA reserves the right to dismiss them from the Jr. NBA League and prohibit further participation or affiliation with the Jr. NBA Leagues program.
